Basic Sausage

SPONSORED BY DEPARTMENT OF ANIMAL SCIENCE & MEAT SCIENCE EXTENSION

With a focus on the technology of sausage processing, short course topics range from lectures on basic meat science to demonstrations of processing techniques. Speakers, nationally and internationally recognized authorities in their fields, will provide information about the latest technology available.

Enrollment for this course is limited so that participants have ample opportunities to interact with speakers and staff and have their questions answered. Iowa State University’s modern Meat Laboratory allows participants to observe demonstrations utilizing the latest technology.

TOPICS

Non-meat ingredients
